

PROFILE

I'm a current double degree student in Science & Computer Science at Monash University, set to graduate by mid-2023.

I have gained practical experience through an internship at Origin Energy, where I worked in Business Security Solutions and demonstrated strong teamwork and collaborative skills.

My prior work experience at Taco Bell honed my customer service skills and interpersonal abilities.

In my spare time, I have also undertaken several personal projects, including creating my own online resume which can be found here.
